

- End of Life Facility - Any transmission facility that the owning transmission owner has determined through reasonable and transparent utility analysis that it is no longer viable to continue to maintain this facility.