

auction at the beginning of March, 2024. This timeline necessitates a FERC order by the requested effective date so that PJM has sufficient time to incorporate the proposed revisions into the planning parameters before than are posted.

Notwithstanding the foregoing and upon consultation with counsel from the ICC, PJM and the ICC now support a mutually agreed upon extension of the existing December 12, 2023 comment deadline by one week, until December 19, 2023. This additional time would mean the ICC can be appropriately briefed of this issue at its December 14, 2023 meeting,³ while still affording sufficient time for PJM to respond to any comments that are filed, and for Commission consideration of the record before the requested January 22, 2024 effective date.

II. CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, the Commission should deny the ICC's Motion for a 30-day extension of time to the current comment deadline, while extending the comment deadline by an extra week to December 19, 2023.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Chenchao Lu
